  - b. To care for a child placed with the employee, by a child-placing agency licensed under chapter 50-12, for adoption or as a precondition to adoption under section 14-15-12, but not both, or for foster care, if the leave concludes within twelve months of the child's placement.
  - c. To care for the employee's child, spouse, or parent if the child, spouse, or parent has a serious health condition.
  - d. Because of the employee's serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the functions of the employee's job.
2. For any combination of reasons specified in subsection 1, an employee may take family leave in any twelve-month period for not more than twelve workweeks. The twelve weeks of family leave may be taken intermittently for leave under subdivisions a or b of subsection 1 if approved by the employer. The twelve weeks of family leave may be taken intermittently for leave under subdivisions c or d of subsection 1 if the leave is medically necessary. If an employee normally works a part-time schedule or variable hours, the amount of leave to which an employee is entitled must be determined on a pro rata or proportional basis by comparing the new schedule with the employee's normal schedule.

3. In any case in which a husband and wife entitled to family leave under this chapter are employed by the same employer, the aggregate period of family leave to which both are entitled may be limited by the employer to twelve workweeks during any twelve-month period.
4. An employee shall reasonably consider the needs of the employer in scheduling family leave under this section or in using leave under section 54-52.4-03.
5. The family leave required by this chapter is not required to be granted with pay unless otherwise specified by agreement between the employer and employee, by collective bargaining agreement, or by employer policy.
6. The family leave required by this chapter supplements any leave otherwise available to an employee.

54-52.4-03. Use of other available leave for care of parent, spouse, or child.

An employer that provides leave for its employees for illnesses or other medical or health reasons shall grant an employee's request to use that leave to care for the employee's child, spouse, or parent if the child, spouse, or parent has a serious health condition. An employee may take eighty hours of leave under this section in any twelve-month period and, upon approval of the employee's supervisor and pursuant to rules adopted by the director of the office of management and budget, the employee may take, in any twelve-month period, up to an additional ten percent of the employee's accrued sick leave to care for the employee's child, spouse, or parent if the child, spouse, or parent has a serious health condition. The employer shall compensate the employee for leave used by the employee under this section on the same basis as the employee would be compensated if the leave had been taken due to the employee's own illness.

54-52.4-04. Notice to employer.

1. If an employee intends to request family leave for the reasons specified in subdivision a or b of subsection 1 of section 54-52.4-02, the employee, in a reasonable and practicable manner, shall give the employer advance notice of the expected birth or placement.
2. If an employee intends to take family leave for the reasons specified in subdivision c or d of subsection 1 of section 54-52.4-02, the employee shall:
  - a. Make a reasonable effort to schedule the planned care or treatment so that it does not unduly disrupt the employer's operations, subject to the approval of the health care provider to the child, spouse, parent, or employee; and
  - b. Give the employer advance notice of the planned care or treatment in a reasonable and practicable manner.

54-52.4-05. Certification for leave to care for child, spouse, parent, or employee's serious health condition.

1. If an employee requests family leave for the reasons described in subdivision c or d of subsection 1 of section 54-52.4-02 or leave under section 54-52.4-03, the employer may require the employee to provide certification, as described in subsection 2, from the provider of health care to the child, spouse, parent, or employee.
2. An employer may not require certification of more than:
  - a. That the child, spouse, parent, or employee has a serious health condition.
  - b. The date the serious health condition commenced and its probable duration.
  - c. Within the knowledge of the health care provider, the medical facts regarding the serious health condition.

54-52.4-06. Continued health coverage.

During a period that an employee takes family leave, the employer shall continue to make any group health insurance coverage or health care plan for its employees and their dependents available to the employee and the employee's dependents under the conditions that applied immediately before the family leave began. The employer is not required to pay any cost of insurance or health care for that employee and the employee's dependents while the employee is on family leave.

54-52.4-07. Position upon return from leave.

1. When an employee returns from family leave the employer shall immediately place the employee in an employment position as follows:
  - a. If the employment position the employee held immediately before the family leave began is vacant, in that position.
  - b. If the employment position which the employee held immediately before the family leave began is not vacant, in an employment position having equivalent compensation, benefits, hours of employment, and other terms and conditions of employment.
  - c. If, during the family leave, the employer experiences a layoff and the employee would have lost a position had the employee not been on leave, pursuant to the good-faith operation of a bona fide layoff and recall system, including a system under a collective bargaining agreement, the employee is not entitled to reinstatement in the former or equivalent position. In such circumstances, the employee retains all rights under the layoff and recall system, including a system under a collective bargaining agreement, as if the employee had not taken the leave.
2. If an employee on family leave requests a return to work before the end of the leave as scheduled, the employer shall place the employee in an employment position of the type described in subsection 1 within a reasonable time not exceeding the duration of the leave as scheduled.
3. No employer may, because an employee received family leave, reduce or deny an employment benefit that accrued to the employee before the employee's leave began or accrued after the employee's leave began. However, this chapter does not entitle a returning employee to a right, employment benefit, or employment position to which the employee would not have been entitled had the employee not taken family leave or to the accrual of any seniority or employment benefit during a period of family leave, unless otherwise provided by a collective bargaining or other agreement between the employer and employee.

54-52.4-08. Prohibited acts - Individual remedies.

No person may interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of any right provided under this chapter. In addition to any remedies otherwise provided by law, any person injured by a violation of this chapter has a claim for relief to recover any damages, together with costs and disbursements, including reasonable attorney's fees, and may receive injunctive and other equitable relief as determined by the court.

54-52.4-09. Scope.

1. This chapter does not prohibit an employer from providing employees with rights to family leave which are more generous to the employee than the rights provided by this chapter.
2. This chapter does not limit or diminish an employee's rights or benefits under chapters 52-01 through 52-07.1.

54-52.4-10. Application.

This chapter first applies, with respect to any employee covered by a collective bargaining agreement on January 1, 1990, on the day after that collective bargaining agreement expires or is extended or renewed.
