and 2003, the Secretary of State shall transmit to the Committee on International Relations [now Committee on Foreign Affairs] of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a report on conditions in Macau of interest to the United States. The report shall describe—

"(1) significant developments in United States relations with Macau, including any determination made under section 203;

"(2) significant developments related to the change in the exercise of sovereignty over Macau affecting United States interests in Macau or United States relations with Macau and the People's Republic of China:

"(3) the development of democratic institutions in Macau;

"(4) compliance by the Government of the People's Republic of China and the Government of the Republic of Portugal with their obligations under the Joint Declaration; and

"(5) the nature and extent of Macau's participation in multilateral forums.

"(b) SEPARATE PART OF COUNTRY REPORTS.—Whenever a report is transmitted to Congress on a countryby-country basis, there shall be included in such report, where applicable, a separate subreport on Macau under the heading of the country that exercises sovereignty over Macau.

"SEC. 205. DEFINITIONS.

"In this title:

"(1) JOINT DECLARATION.—The term 'Joint Declaration' means the Joint Declaration of the Government of the People's Republic of China and the Government of the Republic of Portugal on the Question of Macau, dated April 13, 1987.

§ 6902. Policy

It is the policy of the United States—

- (1) to develop trade relations that broaden the benefits of trade, and lead to a leveling up, rather than a leveling down, of labor, environmental, commercial rule of law, market access, anticorruption, and other standards across national borders:
- (2) to pursue effective enforcement of traderelated and other international commitments by foreign governments through enforcement mechanisms of international organizations and through the application of United States law as appropriate;
- (3) to encourage foreign governments to conduct both commercial and noncommercial affairs according to the rule of law developed through democratic processes;
- (4) to encourage the Government of the People's Republic of China to afford its workers internationally recognized worker rights;
- (5) to encourage the Government of the People's Republic of China to protect the human rights of people within the territory of the People's Republic of China, and to take steps toward protecting such rights, including, but not limited to—
 - (A) ratifying the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights;
 - (B) protecting the right to liberty of movement and freedom to choose a residence within the People's Republic of China and the right to leave from and return to the People's Republic of China; and

(C) affording a criminal defendant—

- (i) the right to be tried in his or her presence, and to defend himself or herself in person or through legal assistance of his or her own choosing;
- (ii) the right to be informed, if he or she does not have legal assistance, of the right set forth in clause (i):
- (iii) the right to have legal assistance assigned to him or her in any case in which the interests of justice so require and without payment by him or her in any such case if he or she does not have sufficient means to pay for it;
- (iv) the right to a fair and public hearing by a competent, independent, and impartial tribunal established by the law:
- (v) the right to be presumed innocent until proved guilty according to law; and
- (vi) the right to be tried without undue delay; and
- (6) to highlight in the United Nations Human Rights Commission and in other appropriate fora violations of human rights by foreign governments and to seek the support of other governments in urging improvements in human rights practices.
